forms Reuter's that he has received from Right Hon. Walter Hume Long, colonial secretary, a despatch in which General Allenby makes special reference to the gallantry of the Newfoundlanders in the recent fighting in France. The general says:

"The Newfoundlanders did gallant work in refelling very heavy counter attacks by the Germans. Their casualties were high, but they showed splendid staunchness and fought like heroes. The divisional commander reports that the Germans were advancing and the eastern defences appeared weak, whereupon the commanding officer and the remainder of the headquarters ronners signalled and proceeded as rapidly as possible to the southeastern corner of the town.

"The commanding officer climbing a ladder saw Germans lumping into our starting trenches. His small party then ran across to a garden fence, losing some men as they crossed, but getting cover in a sort of ditch, from where they were able to fire all day at close range, getting the trench nearly in enfilade, and accounted for a large number of Germans.

"I have personally recommended the good work of this battallon, and of the commanding officer, and his headquarters staft in particular. By his promptness and personal bravery he avoided what might have been a very serious situation."

Dr. Michael Clark asked the government not to take a definite stand on the matter ntil the return of the prime minister. The government, he said, should not offer provocation to the opposition because they were human. The party responsible for bringing on an election will be greatly blamed by the country. "If it comes at a time when our men are falling in thousands," he added, "It is bound to have a destroying effect on national unity."

The motion was declared "lost on division."

The Case of Thomas Kelly.

Dr. Mulloy, of Provencher, asked if the Thomas Kelly confined to the penitentiary for offenses committed in Winnipeg in connection with contracts for the former provincial government had been given any special treatment different from the other prisoners.

Hon. C. J. Deherty replied as follows: "When Kelly was received at the penitentiary the cutting of his hair, his criminal identifacation, and his wearing of prison clothing, were postponed upon the erroneous understanding that judicial proceedings were still pending affecting the finality of his sentence. It was represented that he had considerable business pending which required his personal direction, and for that reason his solidirection, and for that reason his soli-citors and members 6.4 his family were permitted to converse with him at reasonable times in the presence of a warden. He was in a very critical state of health, as certified by the prison surgeon, and by a consulting physician, who was on that account called in upon the advice of the prison surgeon.

For that reason his wife was permitted to provide a chair for him and his diet was regulated according to the recommendation of the prison surgeon. When it was ascertained that there were no longer judroial proceedings affecting his case directions were given for his identification, hair cutting and prison clothing, but the execution of these were postponed on the recommendation of the prison surgeon, who certified his belief that in view of Kelly's condition, cordering upon a complete nervous breakdown, any change in his treatment with regard to accommodation, diet, exercise, etc., would precipitate this present breakdown, and strongly advising, in consideration of Kelly's health, no changes of treatment for the present.

The enemy appears to be incurably treacherous. An instance of this character has been officially reported by the colonel of one of the battations which took part in the capture of Arteux. A group of the enemy threw down their arms and threw up their hands when the first wave of our assaulting troops came along. Afterward the enemy partly picked up their rifles and began shooting our men in the back. Ahead of the second wave of Canadians came a scout, who saw this "dirty trick" as he describes it himself, from a shell hole. He sniped ten of the treacherous group and then, going forward, bayonetted the remaining two.

Sharing honor for cool brayery with this avenger of treachery is a soldier who had been crippled by having to wear boots which did not fit him. He limped forward with his battallon to its first objective. There, as if waiting for him, he found a pair of new Bosche boots. Sitting down in the Lattlefield, with shells exploding in every direction and machine gun bullets flying around him, the soldier tried on the German boots, found them to be a good fit, and went on, rejoicing to the final objective.

The spirit of the Canadian troops in all the recent advances has been admirable, our officers declare. DR. L. S. SUGDEN PROVIDES UNUSUAL TREAT AT EMPIRE

Perhaps the most novel theatrical attraction the Empire theatre has had for many months or even years is "The Lure of Alaska," which Dr. L. S. Sugden presents the first three days the weak Living harms combined. Sugden presents the first three days this week. It is a happy combination of lecture and motion pictures which is worth a dozen shows like "Mutt and Jeff's Wedding" and several other "attractions" that could be mentioned at random if a carping critic cared to dig up ancient history. However, the memory of Dr. Sugden's entertainment is so pleasant to all However, the memory of Dr. Sugden's entertainment is so pleasant to at least one critic that comparison with some recent entertainments here is odious. The diversion provided by the veteran surgeon of the R. N. W. M. Few more skilful lecturers on a topic which to his audience, must be a popular topic after he has stood before them ten minutes, have been heard here. His talk which is explanatory of the films shown on the screen is delivered with perfect enunciation, faultless grammar, and a knowledge of his subject that leaves no doubt as to the truth of his claim that he has spent over seventeen years in the Yukon-His pictures are so varied and so vivid that a detailed description of them is almost impossible. They must be seen to be appreciated.

"The Lure of Alaska," which is being presented for three nights and a Wednesday matinee is a high classification which has found its way into the theatre where it deserves to be patronized with as much enthusiasm as the Rainey South African Pictures were patronized a few years ago. Both are educational, both are entertaining.

Bright Musical Comedy Heads Pantages Bill

"Hello. Japan," the comic operetta, that heads Pantages bill, this week is a very bright bit of musical comedy that is presented by a company that puts much "pep" into its work. The outstanding feature of it is its chorus. The girls are real "good-lookers" are well trained and have very good voices. Although Jack C. Claire and Vincent Erne, are the featured and press agented ones, and are a duo of excellent comedians, Miss Nettie Wilson should also come in for some of the honors. Alfred deLoraine, the "hero" and Nora Huster, the little Japanese flower girl, are also in this class.

William Schilling in "The Lash" has also been much heralded but, although the ability of Mr. Schilling cannot be denied, the thome of his little sketch denied, the theme of his little sketch is a very sordid one. Briefly a boy kills his father in defense of his mother and "The Lash" has to do with a police inspector putting the culprit through the "third degree." The other two members of the company, Leo Curiey as the inspector, and Ermina Carmichael as the counsel for the de-fense, play their individual parts very well.

PHOTOPLAYS

Publicity Men Tell of Current Attrac-tions on the Screen in Legal Picture Houses.

MONARCH.—Many were the adventures which befell Sessue Hayskawa and his company who are seen on the screen at the Monarch Theatrs the first three days this week in the Lasky-Paramount production of Robert Louis Stevenson's famous story. "The Bottle irap," when they were in Hawaiii. Mr. flavid, swa, his director, Marshall Noilau pad the somera man, with a corbs of assistants and several American members of the conjuncy, journeyed over to the Islands expecting to engage a Hawaiian east there. The keading woman, Lehua Walpahu, is a member of a very high Hawaiian family, and while she is a falented amateur actress, it was with great difficulty that they secured her parents consent for her appearance in moving pictures. Nearly a week was consumed before this consent could be obtained; but Mr. Hayakawa and Mr. Neilan so won over her parents that they permitted many of the secures to be phiotographed on their estate. The company journeyed to Kilanea, the famous volcano, and a number of scenes were taken in its depth. Mr. Hayakawa and Mr. Neilan were nearly overcome with sulplur fumes, so great was their excitement in getting some of the views. Fannie Ward, in "A School for Husbands" will be the Paramount offering on the program at the Monarch the last three days this week, and next week for six days the first Arteraf picture, with George M. Cohan, will he shown. This is one of toonan's greatest stage successes, "Broadway Jones."

EMPRISS.—The wild love so characteristic among the natives of the Latin lands has been made the subject of an intensely interesting photoplay, "The Fenst of Life," which opened at the Empress Theatre yesteritary for a three-day run. Clara Kimbani Young, who has riser to Clara Kimbani Young, and the motion picture profession, is seen in the title role, and as is usual with this talentest actress, she tiese to great heights of emotion in depicting to character of a beautiful, pure Cuban girl, betruthed against ewill to a weaithy man of her own race. A story of great power is woven into the play, and those who atteded the Empress Monday agree that if was one of the Earth Iowlands ever defuned, and the fact that Director Albert Cappellani, who is exponsible for the production, took a whole company of players to Cuba to obtain yealistic atmosphere, roves more than anything else that this deture was produced with nothing class in aliant than one lagreet in all details of teling, excelle anything else that this deture was produced with nothing class in aliant than one lagreet in all details of teling, excelle arguments and proper conte. One of the strongest casts ever asembled is seen on the serven with her, neluding Paul Cappellani, who directed the deture, and who was for many years one of the leading figures of the Theater
'raneals in Paris.

MAJESTY.—Violet Mercereau, in "The Roy Girl," is the Bluebird attraction at the disjesty Theatre today. The film was shown esterday for the first time before a capality audience, being under the auspices of the Wauchuck Chapter of the Daughters of the Wauchuck Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire. It is a play of impelling aterest in which sensation abounds. Miss fercereau plays the role of a girl who has seen brought up as a boy until sixteen, he falls in love then and discards trousers o become her own beautiful self. One incient in the play is especially entertaining, and the third of the play is especially entertaining, and the hard of the play is especially entertaining, and the hard of the meaning for that is the character that wind discarded her boy's clothes, acqueiln Channing, for that is the character that wind misserable for the spinsters who have the meaning the merry for the girls here and miserable for the spinsters who as the institution. It is a fact that Violet ercereau was educated in one of the most clustive female institutions in the east, id so when she had the part to play upon e screen, she thought of some boarding hool pranks which mortal man could not begine in his crude brain. Love, admire the form a screen decection that a treat to the eyes or all fans, who know at good things are always to be expected illumbirds.

OVER TWELVE THOUSAND CANADIAN CASUALTIES SINCE BATTLE OF VIMY

No Official Report of Extent of Casualties in Big Battle of Saturday, But They Are Believed to be Heavy — Forty-one Local Men Are Identified From Lists Received Today.

The back tide of casualties continues to flow in unrelenting strength toward the shores of Canada as a result of the glorious victory won by Dominion troops in the sweep across Vimy Ridge. Ottawa, in an official Vimy Ridge. Ottawa, in an official report states that with the list of 259 names issued Monday the total number of casualties announced since the taking of the German stronghold on April 9th, has reached 12,305.

Losses Are Heavy.

Another official statement from Ottawa, which has a direct bearing on the magnificent honor roll of the nation, is that which announces that nothing has yet reached the militial department indicating the extent of the Canadian losses with the capture of Arleux on Saturday morning. The official expectation is that the losses will be heavy, since the place was only taken by British and Canadian troops after sever fighting, and the Kaiser's forces undoubtedly made every effort to regain the coveted positions.

In the latest lists of casualties the proportion of killed 'n action has grown heavier, although the great bulk of the names are those of the wounded. The lengthy roll of Edmonton men continues to grow with

Owing to a ruling of the Western Associated Press, which has just been announced from Winnipeg, the regimental numbers of the western casualties are not being sent to the newspapers and therefore it is impossible to definitely ascertain how many men from Edmonton and vicinity are actually listed in the rolls. Bronchitis FOR YEARS

Bronchitis comes from a neglected cold and it, if neglected, will surely turn into pneumonia. The first symptom is a short, painful, dry cough, accompanied with rapid wheezing and a feeling of oppression or tightness through the chest.

The phiegm raised from the bronchial tubes is at first of a light color but as the disease progresses it becomes of a yellowish or greenish color and is very often hard to raise.

Dr. Wood's Norway is just the remedy you require as it lossens the phiegm and heals the lungs and bronchial tubes.

Mrs. Chas. Brean. Amherst. N.S., I. Writes: 'I was troubled for years with bronchitis, and could not find any relief. I was especially bad on a damp day. I went to a druggist and asked him for something to stop the constant tickling in my throat. He gave me a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which I found gave me instant relief. I think it is the best medicine for bronchitis I know of, I now take care that I always have a bottle on hand."

"Dr. Wood's" is the genuine, put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, price 25c. and 50c.

T. Butler, Toronto. Robert Muir read an excellent paper on the subject "Scottish Song" at the meeting of the St. Andrew's society in their rooms on Howard avenue last night. Mr. Muir also rendered "the song of the hundred pipers" in a style that betokened him to be as good a singer as he was an essayist. A large-attendance of members of the society enjoyed a fine and varied musical program, illustrative of Mr. Muir's paper. Miss Davidson gave "Annie Laurie" and "The Rowan Tree" with real feeling, Mr. Atherton sang "Afton Water" in a sweet tenor and was encored. Robert Young, who is no stranger to an Edmonton andience sang "A Man's a Man for a' That' and "Scots Wha Hae" in all the full quality of a voice necessary for such patriotic songs. Miss Davidson was also the accompanist. In the absence of Hon. A. C. Rutherford, the president, Dr. T. H. Whitelaw was in the chair. The meeting closed with "Anid Lang Syne" and the National Anthem. BREAD PRICE UP TEN LOAVES ONLY FOR DOLLAR NOW

The price of bread goes up in Edmonton this morning. Last night the bakers of the city reached the decision, in view of the high price of flour, to increase the price of bread to their customers correspondingly.

TEN-YEAR BOY HAD EXCITING EXPERIENCE

Stayed With Runaway Team For Three Miles-Escaped Without Serious Hurts

Little Elmer Wood, the 10-year-old on of J. Wood, of 11336 94th street. experienced as many thrills packed in the space of ten or fifteen minutes yesterday afternoon as fails to the lot of the average boy. He is alive to tell the tale, but it was touch and go with him for a while. Frederick A. Brink, the tale, but it was touch and go with him for a while. Frederick A, Bripk, city dairy inspector, had left his team of horses and democrat wagon in front of the Norwood feed store, $204, 111th avenue, about 6 o'clock and Elmer was holding the horses. Sitting on the front seat of the democrat he was as proud as punch because of the responsibility reposed in him.

Something frightened the horses and they bolted. Elmer pulled at the reins yelling "Whoa!" at the top of his lungs, without avail. His hat blew off and he bounced up and down in the wagon seat like a pea but, although the people who saw the runaway expected to see him thrown to his death every moment, he managed to stay aboard. The horses, on the mad gallop, turned into Namaye and ran north and at 125th avenue turned east. Shortly after this they collided with a pole, and being pretty well tired, came to a stop. The boy flew about 10 feet through the air before he struck carth but, beyond a few scratches, was uninjured. His wild ride was about three miles long. scratches, was uninjured. Two Men Arrested For St. Albert Bank Robbery Come Up Today

John Paul Ryan and George Mc-John Paul Ryan and George Mc-Intyre, charged with the burglary of the Bank of Hochelaga at St. Albert, Saturday morning, will appear before the District Court at 2 p.m. today for summary trial. Through their coun-sel, H. H. Robertson, they made the statement in the city police court Mon-day morning, when arraigned before

sel. H. H. Robertson, they made the statement in the city police court Monday morning, when arraigned before Magistrate Primrose, that they would waive the preliminary and would plead guilty at their summary trial in the higher court. They have also signed a declaration to the same effect.

Late on Saturday night a posse of detectives from the provincisi police force entered a room in the Scott block on Jasper west and arrested Ryan and McIntyre, the accused men, afterwards charging them with breaking and entering the premises of the Bank of Hochelaga at St. Albert, between the hour of midnight and 5 in the morning of April 28th.

The accused are men of rather a smart, educated type, in appearance being like mechanics of the upper grade.

They put up no fight on being arrested, although it is said that there were weapons concealed about the room, seemingly ready for use should occasion demand.

It is said that both men are practically unknown so far as the province is concerned and that they are recent importations from across the border.

The provincial police have got in some quick action in the case, but there is an air of mystery and reticence about the matter which appears to denote that this is only the beginning, and that some startling developments may happen in the future. As it has been stated that the men will plead guilty it is likely that very little evidence will be offered at the irial.

Superintendent Lowry of the telephone department claims that the utility is an index of business conditions in the city, and that its progress shows that Edmonton, from a commercial standpoint, is not doing badly at the present time. BELIEVED MAYOR'S SON IS PRISONER

His Companion in War Plane Has Sent Word From Germany

The inference that Lieut lieg. Henry, son of Mayor Henry, is a prisoner in the hands of the Germans, is now stronger than ever.

Lieut. Henry was on active service at the front with the Royal Flying Corps when he was reported to be missing, and it was understood that he was acting as observer for a Lieut. Logan, who was formerly in Edmonton, but whose parents are living at Prince Edward Island.

Lieut. Logan's father has wired Mayor Henry, saying that he has received a cable that his son is a prisoner in the hands of the Germans. This cable is not official, but it strengthens the idea that where one man is

F. Laird returned from town on Saturday, taking advantage of the stage from Cherhill, which is run twice each week by Mr. C. Granger. Much difficulty was experienced on the journey down on Saturday, owing to the ice going out of the river Pembina. Teams were not able to cross, consequently the stage team had to remain on the north side of the river and the six passengers with their luggage had to be transported over by boat. In consequence of the ice being only out for about nine feet on each side the boat had to be hauled up on the ice and dragged across, and again floated in order to reach the other side of the river—truly a laborious task, and one causing much inconvenience to the travellers. A fresh team and wagon had to be got. Mr. Lancey kindly supplied this, and amidst much mud and water the passengers arrived at Cherhill in time for the outgoing train.

The district around Mosside and Ballantine has been settled up for ten years. Surely-it is quite time to place a good bridge over the river Pembina. The railway is already here, so there can be no excuse offered that they do not know where the railway will be. A great many people make use of the railway both la travelling and, trans-

Mrs. Rossman is in the hospital in town. When taken ill Mrs. Rossman and her baby, a few weeks old, had to be conveyed to town in a sleigh, a distance of 80 miles. It was a case of life and death, and yet they had to travel in a sleigh exposed to coid weather and all the discomforts of the 80 mile drive. Cases of this kind show the great necessity of the new hospital bill, and how necessary it is that its provisions for hospital accommodation in the outlying districts should be proceeded with at once.

Says It Is Suicide to Cut Corns and Tells How They Lift Right Out

You simply say to the drug store

You simply say to the drug store man, "Give me a quarter of an ounce of freezone." This will cost very little, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn from one's feet.

A few drops applied directly upon a tender, aching corn should relieve the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn, root and all, can be lifted out with the fingers without pain.

This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Clincinnati man, who says that while freezone is sticky if dries in a moment, and seems to simply shrivel up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

Don't let father die of infection or lockjaw from whittling at his corns, but cut this out and make him try it.

600 Pairs of Children's SANDALS Now Selling a 25c Per Pair Less Than They'll Be Later On

WE make this Sandal announcement today particularly in the interests of households where there are many pairs of feet to be kept shod. We contracted for this large shipment of sanda many months ago, when the leather market was much more favorable to heavy buying than it today. And had we any idea that we would be called upon to pay 25c per pair more today, would have bought double the quantity.

However, regardless of this fact, we purpose simply taking our usual fair margin of profit on this purchase, offering the price advantage to those who will buy now,

If we want more food and cheaper food would it not be sound sense to enable and encourage the farmer to cultivate more land; by cutting off the duty on the implements he has to have in order to cultivate it?

Though construction is now going ahead rapidly on the line to St. Paul Des Metis, the Dominion Government have not yet raised the embargo on the extension of the Sangudo line to White court, and why the discrimination?

A Canadian going into the United States hereafter is required to put up eight dollars as guarantee that he will not stay there. If this tax had been imposed a couple of years ago the U.S. treasury would have accumulated quite a war fund by this time from the flights of our migrating shirkers.

United States Congressmen have petitioned the British Parliament Congressmen will only be good enough to state what sort of set-tlement the people of Ireland nations, is probably the point on British Parliament will comply with the request with promptness that will leave the petitioners gasping.

Under his new taxation, Sir Thomas White expects to collect an extra $7,500,000 from the war profiteers. That is a welcome development so far as it goes. But as war contracts let in Canada now amount to $800,000,000 it does not go very far. Sir Thomas' forecasted severity toward the profiteers consists mainly in forgiving them their debts and collecting from the public.

The Dominion Millers' Associa tion in convention assembled duly resolved that while they are unalterably opposed to free wheat on principle they humbly submit to the abolition of the duty for the time being and under the existing eireumstances. Said eireumstances being that the millers are loaded up with wheat which the abolition of the duty makes worth an extra ten cents per bushel,

Free wheat has been followed by a rise in the price of flour—several of them in fact. Newspapers supporting the Government say this is simply cause and effect, and that free wheat must necessarily mean dearer flour. Well, what does the Government propose to do to compensate the flour consumer for the hardship imposed upon him in order to let the graindealing interests unload their wheat on the American market? Will there be a compensating cut in the duty on other necessaries of

One trouble with our government is that there are several men in it each of whom thinks he would make a stronger head than Sir Robert Borden, and each of whom may be right.

If it is so vitally important that the food supply of Canada and of the Allied nations be enlarged, is it practical patriotism to discourage cultivation of the land by retaining taxes which needlessly increase the cost of the machinery to culti-

There is at least the consoling thought that the terribly long casualty lists now coming through represent blows delivered on the enemy's line of defense. Formerly the lists used to represent blows delivered by the enemy upon our defenses-which our men were inadequately equipped to hold. As an offset to the losses there is now a gain in ground, or in advantage due to the weakening of the enemy.

This invitation need not be taken as meaning that Turkey is trying to break away from its allies and make separate peace with the Entente nations. More likely it was dietated from Berlin, as part of the general campaign to get Russia to desert its allies and nake peace with the Central Powers. Bulgaria having already offered friendly advances to the Russians, it only remains to compromise the quarrel between Russia and Austria to remove the direct causes why the Russians should continue to fight. That Berlin is ready to compromise at Austria's expense is not a matter for any doubt. You will find that this treatment will be efficacious.

Editor Bulletin. the United States, I cannot refrain from expressing, through your columns, the deep admiration which feel for the Canadian people and their noble response to the call of humanity. Nothing in all my experience has so strengthened in me the conviction of democracy's true value as the observations that I, a teacher of German and German literature, have been privileged to make in your community. privileged to make in your commun-ity, and nothing has more definitely convinced me of the fallacy of autoc-racy than observations of a directly opposite character made in German shortly before the inception of the crosent war. In Germany bitte renomous hatred of the peoples whose yenomous hatred of the peoples whose national principle ran counter to theirs—in Canada hatred only of the evil genius fostered in the German people by autocratic leadership. Fine, wonderfully fine as the patriotic spirit of Canadians is, it is after all only a superlative manifestation of a spirit that is actuating all the belligerents both in the ranks of the Allies and the ranks of the Central Powers. But the Canadian ability to distinguish between evil and evil-doer and, in the midst of sacrifices that wrench the hearts of men, to hold fast to their essential humanity, that is a spectacle beyond compare. The cordiality of your welcome to a citizen of the United States at a moment when you found it most difficult to appreciate the reasons for America's non-participation in the conflict between two incompatible principles of nationality, will ever remain with me, and I count it one of the richest opportunities of my career to have been connected this past year with the University of Alberta. If the exigencies of patricity service to my own country permit, I shall hope to profit by those opportunities in the future. For nowhere have I encountered the true energy of a people operating along educational lines in such a genuine spirit of mutual helpfulness as at this university under the leadership of Dr. spirit of mutual helpfulness as at this university under the leadership of Dr. Tory. Canada's future is spelling itself out in words that mean deeds, and in deeds that mean progress. The operatic cantata "Phylis, the Farmer's Daughter," composer Geo. F. Root, will be presented by the Bonnie Doon Choral Society in the St. Luke's social hall. Bonnie Doon, on Saturday evening next, May 5th, and promises to be a rare treat for all who attend. It is being held under the patronage of Mayor Henry, who has signified his intention of being present. The members of the society have been practicing hard for several weeks under the able direction of Mr. Hugh Watt, with the result, that there is a well balanced chorus of about 20 voices. This production is the first or its kind that has been staged east of Mill creek. This is the third year of the society's existence and although greatly handicapped by the loss of several of its male members who are now serving the colors, it is to be congratulated on its efforts to keep the home fires burning. Miss Kate Hamilton of "San Toy" fame is taking the principal parts of "Phyllis," which is a sure indication that there are good things in store. Mrs. J. Smith as "Margaret" is well suited for the part. Robert Hall as "Douglas" should make a decided hit, while R. Pickles as "Farmer Medows" needs no introduction to Edmonton audiences. The difficult part of "Chapleigh" the dandy from the city is in the capable hands of A. C. Taylor.

This letter was sent to the Local Council and referred to the Civic Club for consideration. Other letters were read and the representatives appointed were as follows: To the Vacant Lots Garden Club, Mrs. W. F. H. Brown; to the National Service League, Mrs. Clyde MacDonald; and to the City Clean-Up Committee which has just been formed, Mrs. G. A. Holman. Mr. Evans, representing the National Service board in the city, gave a most interesting talk, chiefly on the war certificates, which he thoroughly explained, pointing out the necessity of purchasing. He also impressed the members by urging a ration campaign showing how the food that could not be transported should be used and the food that could be used and the food that could be made of it, and that the government would support such a movement. Mr. Evans spoke a great deal along the lines of food and the conservation, remarking that he would rather see garden peas in the front yard than sweet peas.

In the matter of recitals I am pleased to be able to state that several new ideas have been successfully incorporated and carried out. Hitherto the selection of material for our recitals. selection of material for our recitals had been somewhat haphazard. While on one hand we have had single occasions devoted to the production of one nationality, on the other many of our concerts were miscellaneous in the character of their items in this respect. This past year has seen a classification of nationality in composition which has been attended with I think, entirely beneficial results. With perhaps one exception our recitats have followed this excellent rule throughout and resolving themselves as they have into a series of studies of widely-differing schools—English, Scandinavian, Russian, French and so forth, the educational value of such a course cannot be questioned. I am sure every member of our association at the thought that one of our concerts was itself a recognition of the fact that Canada is now definitely ranged amongst the music producing countries. I refer to the program which was devoted to the interpretations of our own Canadian composes Gena Branscombe. Our opportunities for meeting and comparing notes with representatives of kindred organizations throughout the continent were unfortunately somewhat prescribed during the past treative months. This is to me pertwelve months. This is to me personally a matter of some regret and I feel convinced that you are with me in deprecating our limitations in this respect. BIG INTEREST IN KILBANE-WELSH BOUT

Both Men Are Said To Be In Fine Shape For Ten-Round

NEW YORK, April 30—Unusual interest is being shown by followers of boxing in the bout to be fought here tomorrow night between Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion, and Johnny Kilbane, holder of the featherweight title. The puglists will meet for a bout of ten rounds.

Under the state rules no official decision can be rendered by the referee, who will be Charley White, a veteran arbiter of many championship matches. The winner is likely to be decided by the acclaim of speciators on the showing made during the contest.

Each man is considered one of the cleverest ring generals and glove artists in his respective class. Klibane is credited with being the harder hitter, but there is little, if any, betting on a knockout, Welsh will enter the ring at about 135 pounds, which will give the lightweight champion an advantage of five or skx pounds in weight over his opponent.

Ted Lewis Gets Decision.

Columbus, Ohio, April 30.—Ted Lewis, the English welterweight, outpointed and outfought Johnny Griffiths of Akron, Ohio, in seven of the 13 rounds of their bout here tonight. Griffiths won two rounds and the others were even.

Lewis was on the aggressive throughout the bout. The weights were: Lewis 141 3-4 pounds; Griffiths Pittsburg, april 30.—Harry Cash et Pittsburg, won points over

DEPENDING ON PITCHING STAFF

Philadelphia Has Ceased To Be Joke of American League

"Give us good pitching, not the best, but good consistent pitching in the box and they'll have to look out for us."

That's the way Connie Mack sized up his rejuvenated Athletes in a talk in New York.

"We've reached the point where we are likely to do something. We have a club that is peculiar. It is composed of men who can do many things," said Mack. "Everyone of them is different. They're not recappized stars yet, but they can hit add they can run the bases and the pitchers are finding out how to pitch. They'll make runs and they'll hit most any kind of pitching. All I need is good, steady work in the box."

Mack said he was depending a good doal on the Work of Bush, Meyers, Jipk Johnson and Noyes.

"Those boys are fine plichers and hard workers," he said. "Noyes proved where he belongs when he heat the Yankees in a close game. Bush and Myers are known to possess ability, and Johnson is coming fast.

"I like the work of Bales mighty."

segs ability, and Johnson is coming fast.

"I like the work of Bates mighty well at third base. He fits in with McInnis and Witt, two other stars. He will be recognized as a flad before the season is over."

Mack's team has ceased to be the joke attraction of the American League. When he broke his old machine into bits and started to rebuild he predicted he would be back in the running by 1917. His word appears to have been placed on a sure thing, for his team is playing snappy, winning baseball.

"I have a team that will hit and fight with the best of them. I'll not win a pennant this year, but—I'll not finish in last place, either."

AIN'T IT A GRAND AND GLORIOUS FEELIN'?

Sporting Facts and Fancies

Beseball will prosper in Calgary again this year in spite of the war, the Sportsmen's Patriotic Association having charge of the games. The promoters have promised to live up to the letter of the law laid down by the Amateur Athletic Union. No clubs or players are to benefit from the gate receipts. No contests are to be considered or advertised as "championships" but are rather looked upon as in the nature of athletic entertainments put on for raising funds for patriotic or military purposes. All players, except soldiers, must hold amateur cards. No pros, are to compete, unless they are in khaki, and no play-offs are to be arranged except with similar leagues sanctioned by the Union. The S. P. A. has promised to attend to all of these details and so the merry games gods on in spite of the war.

Captain A. G. Kirby, one of the noted British sportsmen, whose deaths are adding continually to the roll of honor, was pretty nearly the Joe Wright of the Thames, except in length of service. Captain Kirby rowed four times for Oxford in the University boat race, and competed at Henley steadily from 1904 to 1912. In the latter year he was captain of the Leanders and had the selection of the crew that were beaten by the Australians for the Grand Challenge, but a few weeks later turned the tables by beating the Australians in the Olympic regatta at Stockholm. Kirby pulled number seven oar in that eight.

A few curt lines in newspapers, dated from New Orleans, read something like this:—"Jeff Smith, of Bayonne, N.J., last night knocked out Young Ahearn in the fifth round of what was scheduled to be a 20-round bout." Scapt and meagre enough, considering that the lines are, in effect, the pugilistic obituary of one of the cleverest fighters present-day ringdom has known. Young Ahearn, "Johnny Bull's Boy" is gone, pugilistically. A few months ago he was knocked out in the fraction of a round by that phantom of the ring, Mike Gibbons. A few weeks ago, he was pushed still farther into pugilistic oblivion when the Zuiu Kid, the swarthy battler who Ahearn so easily outpointed in Montreal, sent him into the land of Know Nothing in a bout at Brooklyn. On top of these two defeats, the knockout by Smith, a second-rater at best, can be taken as evidence that Young Ahearn's day is done, and that his sun has set. A short three years ago Ahearn returned from England, halled as one of the greatest pieces of fighting mechanism at his weight. He was a model of physical development and perfection—a clean-cut, tithe graceful fistle scientist, the type of boxer that delights the genuine glove fan. Ahearn, now a ring discard, is only twenty-three years of age. He started the most strenuous form of sport that the whole range of fathletics offers, at the age of fourteen—and there's the moral BOSTON, April 30.—Boston defeated Philadelphia by a score of 6 to 3 today. Ruth was hit often but received brilliant support, and the game was his fifth straight victory. During the Philadelphia batting practice, Witt, the visiting shortstop, became incensed at his team mate, Elmer Myers, charring him with throwing "bean balls" and threw his bat at the pitcher. Myers ran up to the plate but the two men were separated before any blows were struck and Myers was sent to the club house by Manager Mack. Philadelphia . 190 000 020—3 10 3

ALL RACING TO STOP THIS WEEK IN BRITAIN

Prohibition Is Also To Be Extended to Small Race Meets In Ireland

CORNWALL MAY LEAVE LEAGUE

Not Getting Newsy Lalonde They May Retire From the

MONTREAL, April 30.—More is to be decided at the Tuesday meeting of the National Lacrosse union than participation in the circuit by a Toronto-Tseumseh combination and whether Lalonde shall be released by Nationals, of Montreal, to the Cornwall club. It has been learned that at Saturday's meeting Dr. Cavanagh, the Cornwall delegate, when Nationals refused to agree to Lalonde playing with Cornwalls, declared that Cornwall could not take part in schedule unless they were awarded Lalonder services, as they had understood they would be, and granted a part of their expenses when visiting the Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto clubs. He had not then power to declare Cornwall resigned from the union, but at Tuesday'n meeting will have full authority to speak for Cornwall, it is declared.

BROOKLYN BALL FANS ROAST BENNY KAUFF

Allowing for the fact that the Giants are decidedly unpopularin Brooklyn, it seems poor business for the fans at Ebbetts Field to hoot Benny Kauff every time the little centre fielder steps to the plate, says a writer in the New York Evening Sun. Why is he made an object for ridicule and derision? He is an carnest hard working player and is always well behaved on the field, giving no offence to any one, and he bids fair to become one of the greatest players in the game. At present he is travelling at a fast clip and hitting the ball hard and often, and he deserves a world of credit for going along uncomplainingly in the face of the criticisms which were showered.
on him last year. Give him a chance! LONDON, April 30.—All racing will cease in the United Kingdom this week, it was announced in the House of Commons today for the government by Captain Charles Bathurst. He added that an order providing for the rationing of thoroughbreds would be issued shortly.

Questioned by Arthur Lynch, Nationalist member for West Clarc, as to whether the prohibition would be extended to small meetings in Ireland. Captain Bathurst replied that he was not authorized to say any exception would be made.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Winnipeg, April 30.—After the furere of Saturday the opening was quite tame, but censors are right on the job.

Winnipeg May was up 2%c at 270: July 1½c at 24c. The biggest advance was in October, which opened at 194, or 5c up from Saturday's close.

The most startling change was in Minneapolis May, which jumped 7½c at the opening bid. Actual American openings were as follows:

Minneapolis opened 7½c up for May at 1554, July was 3c to 3½c up at 255 to ½, and September 3½c up at 1954, linspections were 692 cars, with 1,150 cars in sight.

Neither the opening of navigation nor the new system of conducting pit trading in Neither the opening of navigation nor the new system of conducting pit trading ander censorship furnished any sensations, and the meming on the exchange was an exceedingly quict one. The trade is not justing itself rapidly to a new and bitherto matries condition. For the time being it undoubtedly is impeding trade to some extent. Actual changes in price at the close were small, but the range throughout the day, while less startling than for the past week, was nevertheless fairly wide.

News from other exchanges as to passible action was limited. From start to finish there was an air of waiting to see what would happen. The news from ourside as to winter whost and European conditions was slightly but distinctly bearing in tone.

conditions was slightly but distinctly bearish in tone.

In the cash market there was little or no trade in wheat. The Government agents were not hingers and with the opening of the delivery month comorrow there was no incentive to trade in two and three northern. They will come in on the fitture.
There was a very limited trade in number one and low grates not wanted.

There was a fart demand for cars, but broadly the cash grain, trade is demoralized at the moment and it will probably be some days before it is adjusted to the new conditions of things.

Winnipe wheat closed 1½s higher for May and July and 35se higher for May, unchanged for July and 3s lower for October. Barley closed the higher for May, unchangdely closed unchanged. Flax closed 2½e lower for May and 1½e lower fer July.

Minneapolis May closed ½e lower, July 1½c higher, and September 1½e to 1½e lower.

Chicago, April 30.—Sharp opturns today in wheat prices her reflected to a considerable effect of suppressing grain speculation in Canada would be transient in the United States. It was not long, however, before more sober views began to count and the fresh advances were virtually wiped out. Opening prices, which ranged from 14c to 5c higher, with May at 275 to 278 and July at 228t, to 220 were followed by an additional Jump of four cents in extreme cases, but then a general fall that on some transactions went below Saturday's finish.

The yolupe of dealings in oats showed a CHICAGO GRAIN.

below Saturday's liming. The volume of dealings in outs showed; great failing off as compared with has week. Like corn, the market was govern ed almost entirely by the action of wheat.

Fear that a protracted strike would mean widespread suffering, especially in hospitals, caused Wfn. H. When he came to the company of-fice he was walking slowly, heavily. He found Gray inside and dropped into a chair: his face was grimly set, and he listened dully to the physi-cian's rambling talk.

"I fired Appleton!" he broke out, at last. Gray looked up quickly. "He acknowledged that he—did it. I had no choice. It came hard, though, He's a good boy."

"He did some great work, Chieft"
"I know! That affair at the Crossing—I intend to pay him well, if he'll accept. It's not that—I like those kids, Stanley. Eliza took it harder than he. It wasn't easy for me, either," he sighed, wearlly, "I'd give ten thousand dollars if it hadn't happened. She looked as if I'd struck her."
"What did they say?"
"Nothing. He has been careless, disloyal—"

"What did they say?"

"Nothing. He has been careless, disloval.—"

"You told them so?"

O'Neil nodded.
"And they said nothing?"

"Nothing! What could they say?"

Gray answered gruffly: "They might have said a good deal. They might have said a good deal. They might have said a good deal. They might have told you how they paid off your men and saved a walk-out when I had no money."

O'Neil stared incredulously. "What are you taiking about?" he demanded. When he had the facts he rose with an exclamation of dismay.

"God! Why didn't you tell me?
Why didn't they speak out? I—I—why, that's loyalty of the finest kind. All the money they had saved, too—when they thought! had failed! Jove! That was fine. Oh, I'm sorry! I wonder what they think of me? I can't let Dan go after that. '—" He seized his cap and hurried out of the building.

"It's hardly right—when things were going so well, too!" Dan said, sitting crumpied up in a chair, Eilza'i arm encircling his shoulders, "I didn't mean to give up any secrets, but alle."

"We must take our medicine," his n't mean to give un any secrets, but atale."

"We must take our medicine," bis sister told him, gravely. "We deserve it, for this story may spoil all he's done, I didn't think it of her, though."

Dan groaned and bowed his head in his hands. "I don't know which hurts worse." he said—"his anger or her action. She—couldn't do such a thing, Sis; she just couldn't!"

"She probably didn't realize—she hasn't much sense, you know. But after all he's suffered, to think that we should injure him! I could cry. I think I shall."

The door opened before a rough hand, and O'Neil strede into the room, huge, shaggy in his coonskin coat. They rose, startled, but he came to them swiftly, a look of mingled shame and gladness in his face.

"I've come back to apologize," he cried. "I couldn't wait. I've learned what you children did while I was gone, and I've come to beg forgiveness. It's all right."
"I don't know what you mean," Dan gasned.

"I don't know what you mean,"
Dan gasned.

"Doe told me how you paid those men. That was real friendship; it was splendid. It touched me, and I—I want to apologize. You see, I hurried right back."

They saw that his eyes were moist, and at the sight Eliza gave a quivering cry, then turned swiftly to hide her face. She felt O'Neil's fur-clad arm about her shoulder; his hand was patting her, and he was saying gently: "You are a dear child, It was tremendously good of you both, and I—ought to be shot for acting as I did. I wonder if you can accept a wretched apology as bravely as you accepted a wrong accusation."

"It wasn't wrong; it was right," she sobbed. "Dan told her, and she told Cordon."

"There, there! I was to blame ofter all for letting any one know.

"There, there! I was to blame after all for letting any one know, and if Dan made a mistake he has more than offset it by his unselfishnoss—his sacrifices. It seems I forgot how much I really owe him."

"That affair with the shift bosses wasn't anything," said Dan, hastily, "and it was all Eliza's idea. I refused at first, but when she started to pay them herself I weakened." He stuttered awkwardly, for his sister was motioning him desperately to be silent; but he ran on: "Oh, he ought to know the whole truth and how rotten I acted, Sls, I deserve to be discharged."

Nerves Weak Had Hysterics

Orillia Lady Tells of Her Pitiable Condition When the Nerves Gave Way and She Became Sleepless, Irritable and Excited

Orillia, Ont., April 10.—There is an abundance of proof found right here in Orillia that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is unrivalled as a means of forming new, rich blood and building up the new, rich blood and building up the exhausted nervous system.

At this season almost everybody feels the need of restorative, tonic treatment to keep up vitality and ward off the tired, languid feelings. This letter will give you some idea of the splendid results to be obtained by using this great food cure;

I became so had that on one occasion, during a thunderstorm, I had a severe attack of hysterics. Then I became anxious about my condition. It was siceplessness and nervous debility that were my trouble. Some nights it would be I o'clock before I could get to sleep. Knowing the good results obtained from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I commenced a treatment. I took about seven boxes, and gradually I could feel my nerves becoming steady and my apperfixe returning. I could sleep well, and guay alone without any difficulty. Some little time ago I commenced losing in weight, and I becan using the Nerve Food again as a tonic. I used only two boxes, and recovered the weight I had lost. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and when I see anyone locking ill or nervous I say, 'Get busy and use some Nerve Food.' "Of course not. When I take time to think about discharging a man I invariably end by ralsing his salary."

"Dan isn't worth half what you're paying him," came Eliza's muffled voice. She freed herself from Murray's embrace and rearranged her voice. She freed herself from Mur-ray's embrace and rearranged her hair with tremulous fingers. Sur-reptitiously she wiped her eyes. "Perhaps I can help you to prevail on Miss Natalie to change her mind, That would be a real service, wouldn't it?" Under his grave glance Dan's heart leaped. "I can't believe she's indifferent to you, my boy. You're suited to each other, and there's no reason on could why we she shelder!"

Dan blushed and faltered. "I can't be firm with her, Murray; I turn to jelly whenever she looks at me." There was something so friendly and kind in his employer's attitude that the young fellow was tempted to pour out all his vexations; he had never felt so close to O'Noil as now; but his masculine reserve could not be overcome and in a moment, and but his masculine reserve could not be overcome an in a moment, and he held his tongue.

When Murray had put the two young people fully at their ease he rose to go, but Eliza's eager voice made him turn with his hand on the door-knob.

"What can we do about this unfortunate Illis affair?" she asked.
"Dan must try to—"
"Leave that to me. I'll straighten it out somehow. It is all my fault, and I'll have to meet it." He pressed their hands warmly.

"When he had gone Dan heaved a great sigh of relief.
"I'm glad it happened just as it did.

"I'm gind it happened just as it did. Sis." he annotunced. "He knows my secret now, and I can see that he never cared for Natalie. It's a load off my mind to know that the track is clear."
"What a simpleton you are!" she told him. "Don't you see he's simply paying his debt?"
"I wonder—" Dan eyed her in amazement. "Gee! If that's so he is a prince, isn't he?"
The same ship which had brought the ominous news to O'Neil also brought Curtis Gordon north. He had temained in Seattle only long enough to see the illis story in print, and then had hastened back to the front. But his satisfaction over the mischief he had done received a rude jolt when at his first moment of leisure he looked over the late magazines which he had bought before taking leave. In one which had appeared on the news-stands that very day he found, to his amazement, an article by Miss Eliza Appleton, in which his own piehis amazement, an article by Miss to his amazement, an article by Miss Eliza Appleton, in which his own pic-ture appeared. He pounced upon it easerly, and then, as he read, his eyes narrowed and his jaw stiffened. There, spread out to the public gaze, was his own record in full, including his initial venture into the Kyak coal-fields, his abandonment of that project in favor of Mone Corcellage. coal-fields, his abandonment of that project in favor of Hope Consolidated, and an account of his connection with the latter enterprise. Eliza had not hesitated to call the mine worthless, and she showed how he, knowing its worthlessness from the first, had used it as a lure to investors. Then followed the story of his efforts to gain a foothold in the railroad struggle, his defeat at the Salmon River canyon, his rout at the delta crossing, and his final death-blow at Kyak. His career stood out boldly in all its fraudulent colors; failure was written across every one of his undertakings. The maked facts showed him visionary, incompetent, unscrupulous.

The naked facts showed him visionary, incompetent, unscrupulous.

Thus far he had succeeded in keeping a large part of his stockholders in ignorance of the true condition of Hope Consolidated, but he qualled at the inevitable result of this article, which had been flung far and wide into every city and village in the ide into every city and village in the and. He dared not think of its ef

The worst of i was that he knew himself shut of for the world for five days as ensetually as if he were locked in a dungeon. There was no wireless equipment on the ship, he could not start the machinery of his press bureau, and with every hour this damnable story was bound to gain momentum. He oursed the luck which had set him on this quest for vengeance and bound his hands.

Once he had gathered his wits, he occupied himself in the only possible way—by preparing a story of his own for the wire. But for the first time in his experience he found himself upon the defensive and opposing a force against which no bland persuasiveness, no personal magnetism could avail. THE BERLIN-BAGDAD SNAKE

"Alas! my poor, dear snake is dead."

The Kaiser's dream of a German railway running from Berlin to Bagdad and thus securing for Germany domina-tion in the East has been hopelessly shattered by the capture of Bagdad by the Angio-Indian army under General Maude. In this cartoon Raemaekers has symbolized the Kaiser as a Turkish magician mourning the loss of his favorite snake. (Copyright, Canada, 1917).

But it deepened his feeling of obligation almost painfully; for, like all who are thoughtlessly prodigal in their own favors, he was deeply sensible of any kindness done himself. Eliza's dignified exposure of Alaskan affairs, and particularly the agreeable things she had written about him, were sure to be of great practical asistance, he knew, and he longed to make some real return. But so far as she was concerned there seemed to be nothing that he could do. With Dan, of course, it was quite different. Mere money or advancement, he admitted, seemed paltry, but there was a possibility of another kind of service. Meanwhile Dan was struggling with his problem in his own way. The possibility that Natalie had voluntarity betrayed him was a racking torture, and the remembrance of Eliza's words added to his suffering. There is nothing that brings with it such fear of impending death as to wake up in the night with that awful sense of smothering. The uncertain and irregular heart action causes the greatest distress of both mind and body.

Mrs. M. O. I had suffered terribly with my heart for nearly ten years, could scarcely do any work, and would nearly smother at times. I had many remedies, some only relieving me for a time. I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and felt so much better that I kept on using them, and can truthfully say I feel like a new woman.

Day. The particular Evil May Day was May 1, 1517, when there was a riotous outbreak in London by the apprentices and by the populace in general against foreigners, especially the French. The rioters were dispersed and their leader, with fifteen of his followers, hanged, while four hundred others, bound with ropes and with halters around their necks, were carried to Westminster, where, upon their piteous pleas for mercy, they were pardoned by the king.

Coming closer to our own times, the first of May, 1851, saw the opening of the famous Crystal Palace in London. This was the first great exhibition hall, although national exhibitions had been held prior to its erection. When the Crystal Palace opened all records for attendance at such and similar events were broken. There were seventeen thousand exhibitors and six million visitors. The walls and roof of the building were entirely of glass and iron. After the exhibition the building was re-erected at 8ydenham, where it stands to this day. The structure at present is being put to use in connection with the war.

which took place in the Connaught household before the war were free from all the etiquette and stiffness which usually marks the entertainment of royalities.

There are three children of the Connaught union. One of them, the eldest daughter, who was Princess Margaret, is married to the Crown Prince of Sweden. Prince Arthur of Connaught, who is now 33 years old, is the heir to his father's honors and estates. Before the war Prince Arthur was an enthusiastic big game hunter. He is now "doing his bit" for his country at the front in France. Perhaps the best known of the Connaught family is Princess Pat. This charming lady is now 30 years old, looks very much younger, and is taking a prominent part in the affairs of the women who are doing England's war work at home. She was the favorite nice of the late King Edward. He thought for much of her, in fact, that he did not resent her refusal to marry the King of Spain, although marital alliances are almost a matter of command among royalities. Princess Pat is known to have been very much in love with a young marquis, but as he is not of royal blood she could not win her uncle's consent to the marriage. It is said that King George may prove more lenient in this matter than his father was. O'SHAUNESSY, M. C.

If you should happen into any part of Rhode Island these days, or any other days for that matter, and mention the name of G. F. O'Shaunessy, you will be slapped on the back until that very important part of your anatomy nehes. For G. F. is a Representative in Congress, is a Democrat, and is as popular as the month of June is with brides. If you want to meet a man who knows how to take care of the folks at home while he is laboring industriously at Washington you will find him in G. F. O'Shaunessy, who was born in Ireland on May 1, 1866. It isn't so long ago that he dropped into the capitol post office 58, 1000 letters addressed to the folks back home. Each letter contained a frank slip which was good for one package of vegetable or garden seed, provided gratis by Uncle Sam. O'Shaunessy's total donation of seeds usually is about 125,000 per annum. He is a great believer in the "back to the farm movement," and since the war has broken out he is receiving enthusiastic support in Washington as well as at home.

Adventures of Uncle Wiggily

Uncle Wiggily and Nannie's Paints

Copyright, 1917, by McClure News-paper Syndicate.

Uncle Wiggily Longears, the rabbit gentleman, had been out for a ride in his automobile, looking for an adventure one day, when he stopped behind a green, mossy leg in the woods while his machine took a drink of water from a bubbling spring. All of a sudden the bunny rabbit gentleman heard one saving:

e saying: 'Oh dear! I never can get it right! s werse than ever! I'm going to tear

"I worse than ever; I'm going to tear trup!"

"Ha! That sounds as though some one were sort of veeved and in trouble," said Uacle Wiggily to himself, "I must see who it is, and if I can help them," for you know Mr. Longears, as I call him when I want to be stiff and formal like, was always trying to help some one.

formal like, was always trying to help some one.

So the bunny rabbit gentleman peeked over the top of the log, and, on the other side he saw Nannie Wagtall, the little goat girl, painting a picture. Or at least Nannie was trying to paint looked over the top of the log and asked her what was the trouble. "But oh, dear!" cried Nannie, "I can't make it come right!"

"What's wrong?" asked Uncle Wiggily, looking at the picture which was partly finished. "It seems to me to be very nice indeed."

"Oh, but it isn't at all," said Nannie. "I've made the tree pink, instead of being blue, and the leaves and grass are purple when they should be green.

"You see," she went on, "my chin whater beach was no street beach as a part that I can't

"You see," she weat on, "my chin whisker brush is so short that I can't see what color I'm dipping it in, and I get everything wrong. The lady mouse teacher told me to take my paper in the woods, and paint what I saw, but this picture looks like a sunset turned upside down. All the colors are wrong. Oh, dear! What shall I do?"
"I wonder if I could help," said Uncie Wiggliy. So he made a brush of a bunch of grass tied on a stick and he tried to make Nannio's painting better but the old genteman rabbit had forgotten his spectacles, and he made the grass blue, the sky green and the trees pink, spotted with lollypop color.

"Is it any better, Nannie?" asked the bunny. "Well, a little, I guess, said the

"Well, a little, I guess, said the goat girl, not wanting to make Uncle Wiggily feel badly, "But it isn't just right yet. Oh, dear! There's no use of me trying to paint! 'I'l never be an artist! All I can do is to wash dishes and sew buttons on Bille's coat!"
"Well, hat's a very good thing to do," said Uncle Wiggily. "Not all of the care we buttons and that's just to do," said Uncle Wiggily. "Not all of the care we be the care of the do," said Uncie Wiggily. "Not all of us can sew buttons, and that's just as needful as painting. But take your paints and come with me. Maybe we'll find some use for your pretty colors after all. No matter if you do get the wrong ones on the sky and trees, they are bright and jolly, and that's some-thing!"

So the rabbit gentleman took Nanso the rabbit gentleman took Nan-nie and her box of paints for a ride in his automobile, and pretty soon they came to a little house in the woods. Oh, it was a very rough and shabby old house, indeed, sort of dark brown and mouldy, and it gave one the fidg-ers to look at it, and the decolle-god-sticks and a scuttle of coal," was the answer. "He's cross and mean and always unhappy."

"Who lives there?" asked Uncle Wiggily of a busy little bee lady, who was gathering honey.

"No wonder! Living in such a colored house," said the bunny gentleman. "Quick, Nannie!" he called. "I have a plan! Take your box of paints and splash them on this house. Use your brighest colors—pink, green, yellow, red, blue, purple, white and spotted. Daub all your colored paints all over this dull, drab, brown house."

So Nannie did this, painting the chimney a bright red, the shutters blue, the porch pink, the back steps green, and so on, until she had used

And then, along came the cross old fox man, sort of grumbling and growling and saving:

"What's the use of living! I can't dance, my teeth are almost gone and I can't chew gum, nobody loves me

Just then he caught sight of his pink, green, blue, yellow, red and purple house. The sun shone on it bravely and brightly, and redected from there on the face of the fox until he just had to smile, though he didn't want to, and he cried:

"Oh, joy! Some good fairy must have made my house over for me! Now I feel so happy! Whoop!" And he danced a fox trot then and there.

"See, your paint did some good after all, Nannie," said Uncle Wiggily, where he and the goat girl were hidden behind the bushes, waiting to see what would happen. "You have made the fox happy."

"I'm glad," said Nannie, and the next day she learned in the hollow stump school to paint a fine picture of a rose. So this teaches us if we can't do one thing we should try to do another. And if the dining room table doesn't stand on its head and make the red cross kidney beans jump down in the salt celler, I'li tell you next about Uncle Wiggliy and the old goose.
